2. Review on Youtube.com

Youtube - the biggest video streaming service in the world. Everyone out there posts their videos to become popular. For example me, I posted my song on Youtube but I still have no fame yet. My username is @mikeyy-h, find me if you want to hear my song. There is much more content on the platform, such as tech videos, lifehacks, food recipes and so much more! You can even download videos not only with premium subscription. You can bypass this on PC with OrangeMonkey Chrome web browser extension that I'll... Here you can learn how to improve graphics in games, how to create sound effects, how to find special features in apps and much more. Just search up "Tutorials" for what you need. Big companies such as Google and Apple live stream their presentations on Youtube! I personally enjoy watching Google's live streams because I love Google and I use Google Pixel 5. On October 4th Google will show us a brand new Pixel 8 and Pixel 8 pro! I'm so excited! As I know they also going to reveal the all new Pixel watch 2. Uhh... I guess I wrote too much here. Well, that's alright. That's all for today. Bye!

One of the discussions that is starting to appear more of late in media is the effects of technological progress. In this article, I will try to describe those effects, and also speculate on them a little.

So, the internet became a wide-spread source of information and entertainment since the early 2000s. Nowadays, almost every man has a cell phone or a PC that he can use to access the web. But how can it affect people? What are the pros and cons?

Well, the first undeniable advantage of the internet is its contents. You can find literally anything you want, in any form you'd like. The second best part is its social media and forums. You can not only obtain information, but share it, and not only information, you can show your art, music, literally anything to anybody.

But what about the freedom? Many people question internet's freedom via censorship. But that is the other great thing about it! You can choose any site you want, and nobody will tell you what to do. Except you actually can't. You see, all the web popular websites existed since the beginning of it. Youtube, Facebook etc. So everybody uses them, and then only, what allows the sites to dictate their rules. And this is the worst part about the internet.

So, as you can see, the web has its bright and dark sides. Is it good? Is it bad? I think that this is great, because there are too many good things about the internet that overpower

In the last few decades technology has incredibly advanced. Nowadays it's hard for us to imagine our lives without mobile phones or the Internet. However, such rapid rate of advancement of technology raises some important questions, one of them being, how does the new technology affect people's lives? It is no doubt that it has changed our lives dramatically. Of course, the opinions are whether the changes are more positive or negative vary. In this article I want to focus on one aspect, what is now for modern technology effects our personal freedom? I am a strong believer that we have more freedom with it than we would have had without it. All of these things we have access to today - the Internet, social networking sites and mobile phones - have given us a great range of possibilities. Thanks to them, things like shopping and travelling have become a lot more convenient. We are also free to talk to and make friends with other people all over the world, we can share whatever we want with whoever we want. All of this is quite easy to do with the technology we have today. In my opinion, these changes are definitely positive for society because the possibilities they give us are almost endless and people all over the world are more connected than ever before in history. There are downsides of course, as there are to nearly everything, but I think the positive impact outweighs the negative.

We live in a modern world which means that the life a human lives now is absolutely different from the life a human lived, even not that long time ago, twenty years ago. Since that time many things have changed: some became positive and the other that developing our world, and others led us to a worse world. Speaking on this, I want to ~~talk~~ define and share with you ~~me~~ what effects new technology has had on human's life.

There are today a lot of things that new technology represents today: internet, social networking, mobile phones, etc. And today, sometimes seems like, it consumed all our attention, all our time, and hands. We started to rely on our gadgets too much, which I don't think is good. To better explain it, I can give some examples. When we walk, when we're outside, during nature, we often can notice that many people are walking "inside" their phones, they are outside but all their attention is into their phones, social media, networking sites like VK, youtube, telegram. And sometimes we belong to this those people too. We forget about true priorities, beauty of our world, we forget to look up and around, we forget to live life, be active

We are focused too much on what is happening inside our phones, what is happening in other's life, which restricts, stops us from living our own life. We become addicted to our phones, to networking, thus we ~~become~~ started to depend on what our phone tells us, which news it ~~give~~ shows us, ~~to~~ what definitely affects started to affect our self-esteem, our state, our mood, our thoughts and decisions. To sum it up, I want to say that it's not good and it has never been. The thing is, we started to live other's life, we stopped listening to our own opinions, thoughts, wishes. We started to depend on what opinion is common ~~among~~ between people, in society, in social media, what opinion is considered good, and it's the great when you ~~is~~ agree with this opinion, but when you are that - but you make yourself believe in it, it's ~~is~~ really sad. You lose your identity, lose your own choice, your respect to yourself, which means you restrict your freedom, freedom of choice, of your own action. And it's such a big and meaningful problem in our world today, ~~the~~ although we don't pay enough attention to this sometimes.

I personally think to prevent the growth of this problem, we have to learn to be on our own when we're having a phone. It means, we can have a phone, because it still has its good sides, but we don't need to "fall" in it, to be one "with our phones". There ~~is~~ ^{is} we are humans and new technology is what was created, made by humans. It means, we are the creators of ~~our~~ our life and we make decisions, not what's inside our phones.

Talking about good, positive sides of new technology, there are really a lot. First of all, when we have a phone for example, we can keep connected ~~to~~ with all our friends, family members because we have an opportunity to call, write and talk in general, which is really important in our big world. Second of all, it's helpful global ~~the~~ internet which helps us meet new people from different countries through chats and calls. Third of all, I guess ~~the~~ internet is the ~~the~~ greatest source of ~~in~~ information today which we can get fast and easily. We can ~~know~~ know a lot from the internet. What I think is the most positive advantage of

In conclusion, I want to say that our world is developing and it's normal, it's history, but we have to be always careful about what we see, meet, read etc, because humans are very prone to addiction and, believing and affection.
The last, we are the creators of new technology, and not backwards, opposite.

Nowadays, modern technologies become a serious part of our lives. You can't even live a single day without using it. Even though, technology gives are really convenient tools, they might be harmful for you, if you don't know how to use them properly. So today we will be talking about freedom we get from those technologies, and do we get it at all.

We can't deny, that most of the time we spend using those technologies, we spend it for fun. It's much easier for us, to use internet and get the fast dose of dopamine than to do something real and get the same amount of dopamine. This is called the fact dopamine and this thing makes us addicted to it.

This is what takes freedom from us. The fast dopamine is like a drug: once you've got it, you are addicted. You don't get dopamine from everyday activities, you are bored and that's why you get your fast dose of dopamine again. This is not freedom anymore.

However, if you know how to use this technologies, you won't be ~~addicted~~ addicted that much. You will get much more freedom by using technology in a proper way. So the answer to the question ~~is~~ is: Do we get more or less freedom from ~~technology~~ depends on how you use it.
